

Gardening and landscaping

Micro

The selection and abundance of various sizes and colors of Micro available to landscape architects and gardeners allow them to design gardens and parks of the highest level, with an emphasis on the smallest details.

The wide selection of different sizes serves as a useful tool for architects, offering them the possibility of combining several sizes of stone in their garden design, while using a range of unique motifs and options.

The variety of materials produced by Zmitut, together with other materials that we import, gives us an advantage in the field of gardening and landscaping.

The natural shades of natural stone used for floor coverings today constitute an advanced product that can be adjusted to supply many different architectural requirements. Zmitut is a leading supplier of floor coverings at the Bahai Gardens in Haifa and Acre, and other unique places.

Micro is a light-colored limestone, with a hard crystal ranging from 0.6 to 1.4 mm, which offers a great possibility for surfacing the ground with small-size natural stone.
