

Construction

Recycled glass

Stained glass is used as an additional element in combination with existing or new products, adding value to construction products such as floor tiles, interlocking stones, cement terrazzo, elements such as street benches, and more.

Zmitut markets a wide range of "washed" glass chips in many colors.

